KING WON OVER

Embraces Military Leader of Insurgents and Promise a
New Regime

London, Oct. 30.—The triumphant forces of Fascism were ready today
to take over the government of Italy, according to dispatches. Their leader, Dr. Benito Mussolini, was scheduled to see the king and answer the call of the sovereign for him to create a new ministry to replace the Facta government whose downfall was brought about last week by the growing tide of Fascist power and sympathy.

Outside the city thousands of Mussolini's black shirted followers await the command that will send them marching with proud step of a victorious army through the gates of Rome already gay with flags and bunting to celebrate their entry.

Communication lines leading to the Italian capital are reported in control of the Fascisti. Little news of their activities has come from Italy since last night when Mussolini boarded a special train at Milan to go to Rome. He had just notified the fallen Premier Facta
that he had no intention of entering any cabinet formed by any politician.

He declared "the Fascisti must go into power without alliances
with any other party but granting
some portfolios outside the Fascisti party."

Revolt Against Politicians
The Revolt against the politicians' long ago begun by the Fascisti,
many of them vigorous young veterans of the world war, was crowned with success yesterday when King Victor Emmanuel, greatly moved embraced Dr. Di Vecchi, one of the supreme military authority of the Fascisti, told him that he would give Italy a government most suited to the new spirit pervading
the country and then entrusted Mussolini with the task of forming a ministry.

Forming a new cabinet Mussolini said he would retain to himself the portfolios of interior and foreign affairs and appoint General
Diaz minister of war, Admiral Thon di Riva minister of finance,
and include in the government body
the Catholic deputy, Cavazzoni, and the Liberal senator, Lusignoli, now prefect of Milan, conferring the other portfolios upon Fascisti.

British official dispatches from Rome indicate that the Fascisti
movement in Italy is proceeding peacefully. So far the Fascisti, it is stated, have proved themselves well disciplined.

Soldiers in the King's uniform
early today were lining the roads
from Civitavecchia to Rome all along its way through the Apennines,
and barbed wire and sentries with fixed bayonets protected the entrances to Allumiere, Tolfa, Manziana
and Bracciano, 20 miles northwest of Rome.

Railway communication was still interrupted in the early hours between Civitavecchia and Rome.

Within a radius of fifty miles
from Rome sixty thousand Fascisti
were encamped overnight, many of them sending long lines of the capital
to bring back the bread necessary for their sustenance. The King's troops unquestioning permitted these hordes to pass in and out of the city.

SERIOUS RIOTING

Rome, Oct. 29.—Serious rioting broke out here tonight. Parties of Fascisti while passing through a workmen's quarters
known to be a hotbed of subversive elements, were attacked by Communists, who threw stones and fired revolvers. The Fascisti replied.

One person was killed and one Fascisti was wounded and the rest
who were greatly outnumbered, had
two of their men taken prisoner.

The Fascisti immediately telephoned to headquarters whence numerous groups in motor cars
went to the rescue of their companions. Troops meanwhile occupied the zone with an overwhelming
number of soldiers.

Benito Mussolini leader of the Fascisti called by King Victor Emmanuel to form a cabinet, arrived in Rome this forenoon. The crowds thronging the neighborhood of the railway terminal gave him an enthusiastic welcome.

Mussolini left immediately for the quirinal where he was given an audience by the King.

The capital was lavishly decorated with flags today but calm was being maintained.

It is believed the new ministry
will be constituted today.

When the Fascisti leader arrived
at Civitavecchia before taking a

Snow Turning to Rain Fall-

Old Man Low Pressure, the pessimist of the weather world who always puts along a disagreeable
packet of rain, snow or something else, was victor in the battle of the elements today, but latest reports
said that Old Man High Pressure
was following close on his heels,
pressing the battle and probably would drive the gloom producer out of North Dakota tomorrow.

Rain which turned to snow was the contribution of Old Man Low Pressure today. He was in control over the entire Plains states. There was snow in Lander, Miles City and Williston, and cloudy or rainy was being reported at many other places
early this morning. The snow hadn't reached Fargo early in the day but was expected to arrive.

The thermometer sank to 33 above
in Bismarck and 13 inches of rain
had fallen up to 8 o'clock this morning. The cheering news was brought that an area of high pressure was following from the west, which brought predictions for probably colder weather and fair tomorrow.

There is an extreme low pressure
lurking in western Canada, but there is no telling if it will follow the high pressure area.

RAINING AT JAMESTOWN

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 30.—The snow reported in the western part of the state had not reached Jamestown at noon. It was raining and snow was expected to follow this afternoon.

GENERAL PRECIPITATION.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—General precipitation has occurred since Saturday
from the Rocky Mountain region
eastward over the Missouri Valley and Southwestward to Oklahoma, the weather bureau here announced today. In Wyoming there was a heavy fall of snow over a large area, Lander reporting fourteen inches.

Abnormal warmth still prevails
from the upper Mississippi Valley
southward to the Gulf with the highest temperatures of record occurring in the season reported from Indianapolis and Minneapolis yesterday. It has been much cooler over the western half of the country, a minimum of six above zero occur-
ing at Flagstaff, Ariz., last night.

Total losses of the Equity Cooper-

which it is charged in recent suits
that the sale of grain was manipulated in the interest of certain officers, totalled $158,000.00, accord-

The total business transacted for the period was about forty million

of the report.

STATE MILL OPERATING AT GRAND FORKS

North Dakota's New Enterprise Begins Activities—
3,000 Barrel Capacity

GOV. NESTOS PRESENT

Venture Initiated by Program
of Speeches and Tour of Inspection

(By the Associated Press)

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 30.—The state of North Dakota today went into the elevator and flour milling
business when its $2,500,000 mill
and elevator was formally opened here.

Prior to an upcheon attended by state officials and other prominent citizens, Governor E. A. Nestos,
pressed a button setting in motion
machinery in the flour mill, which eventually will have a capacity of 3,000 barrels a day.

One unit of the mill, with a daily capacity of 1,000 barrels, was placed in operation today. A second unit with the same capacity will be ready in about 3 weeks and the third 1,000
barrel section, which will be used for grinding durum wheat exclusively,
will be finished shortly afterwards.

The elevator has sufficient room
to care for the needs of the mill, and some space for public storage, which will be increased later.

Thirty-three thousand bushels of grain had been purchased for the opening and the first shipment arrived late last week. "North Dakota Maid" was the trade name tentatively adopted for the state's flour.

The mill and elevator project was part of the state industrial program inaugurated several years ago by the state officials, elected with Nonpartisan league endorsement. The league sponsored the movement.

Work on the structure was begun
in the spring of 1920 and was halted
in the fall of that year because of inability of the state administration
to dispose of sufficient bonds to finance it.

Nothing further was done until
this spring when work was resumed,
with a new administration, composed
of officials opposed to the league,
in office.

INCREASE IN DEPOSITS MADE BY N. D. BANKS

Comparative Statement Shows Improved Position of Institutions

An increase in deposits of $5,465,
404.55 was registered by North Dakota banks between June 30 and September 15, it is shown by the abstract of reports of banks issued by the state examiner, based on the call of September 15, 1922. The abstract also shows that the total reserve required of state banks was increased on September 15 by $3,- 891,557.33.

Reports received by the state department since September 15 show a big liquidation in many parts of the state which are not reflected in the fall, since the fall grain had not moved in any great quantity prior to September 15. Although marketing of grain has been retarded by the car shortage and there still is much grain to be threshed, reports to the department show that the banking
situation in the banking situation.

Comparative statements of the condition of the state banks, based on the last three calls, are given in the abstract as follows:

crease, June 30 to Sept. 15—$4,455,

LEADERS SEE SPLIT IN WOMAN VOTE

By NEA Service
Washington, Oct. 30.—The woman
vote—how will it go?

That's the biggest of all questions
in political circles these days. If that could be answered, there would be little need of waiting for the bulletins election day to know the outcome of the day's balloting.

Women, united politically, would hold the balance of power. Their favor or disfavor would seat or unseat senators and congressmen. But no united action by women in the coming elections is discernible, as election day draws near. Instead,
even women leaders are urging voters to align themselves definitely with parties.

How Republicans and Democrats
are appealing to the feminine voters for their help Nov. 7 is shown in the following statements written for NEA Service by the leaders of the women's wing in each of the two old parties:

By Mrs. Emily Newell Blair
Of Washington Committee Woman,
Democratic National Committee.

How will the Democratic party
get the women out to the polls? First of all by offering the women an opportunity to rebuke the present Congress for its high tariff with a vote for congressmen who will oppose the present iniquitous rates on everything that women buy for themselves and their families.

Women are the buyers of the family and they cannot, as buyers, face
the tremendous increase in the cost of what they buy, without alarm.

They will flock to the polls to express this alarm in a vote against a Republican Congress which has voted for an increase in everything
they buy.

In the congressional debates, Republican senators contended that this tariff would increase the cost of articles "only a few cents." But many know that a few cents on every article adds into a big sum on the whole.

Object in Tariff
They will not agree with the Republican paper which said that the new tariff on wool would "only" increase overcosts $0.50. To the majority of voters in this country an increase of $0.50 on the price of over-costs never can be qualified by
"only."

We have attempted to bring this situation home to women through publicity. But we have also found many other ways to carry news of the tariff to women who neither read newspapers or attend meetings. In some cases they have made house-to-house canvasses. In others they have arranged porch meetings.
Sometimes they have employed the chain-letter system; sometimes the button method.

Democratic women will spend election day at their telephones, reminding women who are forgetful. But for most part the Democratic party must count itself with presenting to the women of the country the opportunity that is theirs, trusting
that the good sense and self-interest
of the American housewife will lead
her to the polls.

Once there, she will register a vote
to cut down the cost of her children's food and clothing.

By Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton
Vice-Chairman, Republican National Executive Committee.

The whole trend in politics today
is for men and women to work together, to attend the same meetings,
to hear both men and women speakers, to work on the same committees,
to have offices in the same buildings.

During the last several weeks I have personally met women voters by five different states—Ohio, Indiana,
Missouri, Maryland and Massachusetts.
Everywhere I have found intelligent interest in the issues. During the whole campaign, through reports received at national headquarters, I have kept closely in touch with the political situation as it affects the woman's vote throughout the country.

Here and there it is reported that women do not understand the protective tariff, and it is asserted this will cost the Republican party their votes.

Women More Partisan
These reports do not frighten me.
I am convinced that the misleading
statements made concerning the effect of new tariff rates on prices will have a negligible influence on the woman's vote. The women of America as a whole know well that a protective tariff means prosperity
for the country. They know that it will mean that all the factories will be open and that all the workmen
will be busy.

The present campaign shows two things clearly.

First: Women are becoming more partisan.

Second: The women who voted for President Harding in 1920 are continuing their affiliations with the Republican party.

The Conference on Limitations of Armaments has ruffled the feeling
many women held for the League of Nations. It showed America could play a great part in the peace of the world without making any dangerous entanglements with other nations and without the sacrifice of this country's independent position.

Measures passed by the Sixty-seventh Congress of particular interest to women have been the maternity bill and the independent citizenship bill.

CORONER JURY REPORTS

Fixes Blame for Shooting of
Rev. Christler on Margaret Carleton

Have, Mont., Oct. 30.—While
Mrs. Christler is on an eastbound train accompanying the body of her slain husband, Rev. Leonard J.
Christler, rector of St. Marks Episcopal church and known as the "bishop of all outdoors," Mrs. Joseph Pyle, mother of Mrs. Margaret Carleton, whose body was found beside that of Christler, is attempting to prove that her daughter did not commit murder and suicide.

A coroner's jury brought in a verdict stating that Mrs. Carleton killed the Rev. Christler and then shot herself. The tragedy occurred early Friday morning.

In spite of the coroner's jury verdict Mrs. Pyle has employed an attorney and is endeavoring to find evidence that will prove her daughter did not commit the crime.

"I do not believe Margaret did it,"
said Mrs. Pyle. "I shall not be satisfied until I find who owned the gun." Her reference was to a 38 caliber revolver found in the hand of Mrs. Carleton when the bodies were discovered.

"Margaret owned and carried, for six years, a small 22 caliber revolver," continued Mrs. Pyle. "Had this weapon been found in her hand instead of the larger one, it might be reasonable to take that as evidence that she fired the shots."

MET HER IN CHICAGO
(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—Supporting the doubt expressed by Mrs. Joseph H.
Pyle that her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Carleton, killed the Rev. Leonard Jacob Christler at Have, Mont., and then committed suicide, C. E.
Booth, one of the officials of the Mutual-Elwell Chautauqua Bureau,
by whom Mrs. Carleton was employed, today made public a letter written by Mrs. Carleton last Thursday,
the day before the tragedy, and
received in Chicago Saturday.

The letter speaks of her life work
and her plans for her little daughter and contained a promise to call on Mr. Booth when she returned to Chicago.

In expressing the opinion that
Mrs. Carleton did not murder Christler nor kill herself, Mr. Booth said the letter gave no evidence of mental derangement which a coroner's jury in secret session decided caused Mrs. Carleton to shoot the pastor and take her own life. He expressed amazement at the verdict.

Mr. Booth, at two of the occasions
when Mrs. Carleton and the Rev.
Christler were in Chicago and spent much time in each other's company.
The last time was a little less than six weeks ago, he said.

BISHOP'S EXPLANATION.
Have, Mont., Oct. 30.—That Mrs.
Margaret Carleton deliberately attempted to win Rev. Leonard
J. Christler, rector of St. Marks Episcopal church of this city, from his wife, and that failing, she shot the minister, and then herself,
is the belief of Bishop of Montana, according to a statement made by him today.

Stopping off in the Twin Cities
on his return to discuss the situation, Mr. Simon said he found heads of Northwest railroads much concerned over the car lack and frantically making efforts to obtain return of their own cars. Normally at this time of the year, he said,
the Northern Pacific would have 125 per cent of its own number of cars while at this time it has but 65
per cent.

Mr. Milhollan will return tonight.

COOPERATION IN CAR LACK IS PROMISED

Interstate Commerce Commis-

POINT OUT SERIOUSNESS
Stress Laid on Urgent Need
Of Cars to Interstate Commerce Commission

Cooperation with the state railroad commission was promised by
the Interstate Commerce Commission, Charles Simon, assistant attorney-general, said today on his return from Washington where he and Chairman Milhollan of the state railroad commission took up
the matter of obtaining authority
for the state commission over car
distribution in the state.

A representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission, stationed in St. Paul, will come to North Dakota this week to go over the whole matter, he added.

The general order of the Interstate Commerce Commission to eastern railroads to send empty cars west for use in marketing the Northwest grain crop is expected to bring cars, Mr. Simon said.
While the Interstate Commerce Commission did not wish to relin-

of cars within the state to the state
commission a pledge of cooperation
was made.

that he expected after the visit of

sion would be made an agent of the Strong representation was made to the Interstate Commerce Commission of the seriousness of the shortage in North Dakota, the assistant attorney-general said. It was pointed out, he said, that many farmers have been forced to thresh

wheat out on the ground and that bad weather would result in heavy loss. The snow and rain of today will cause material damage, he said.

PRESS BUREAU INSOLVENT IS CLAIM URGED

Appointment of Receiver Is Asked in Fargo District Court

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 30.—Declaring that the Publishers National Service bureau, a Nonpartisan league corporation was organized for the purpose of "injuring the public" and that it is now insolvent, Ed Nygaard has filed a petition in the Cass county district court for an order to appoint a receiver to take charge of all assets, and for the dissolution of the company. The defendant was ordered to show cause "why a receiver should not be appointed." The filing of an affidavit of prejudice by Attorney Claire Breckner precluded a hearing on the order Saturday.

The supreme court, has designated Judge Cooley to hear the case on its merits but stated that this should not prevent Judge Cole from hearing the injunction matter.

At 2 p. m. Friday, the time set for showing cause, 12 creditors with claims aggregating $25,000 appeared in court with counsel. These creditors and the amount of their claim are: Martin Johnson, $2,000; Anton Solberg, $1,000; John Solberg, $1,000; Alfred Munter, $8,500; K. O. Brokke, $2,500; and Peter Berg, $2,000, all of Hillsboro; John Larson, $2,500; J. C. Leum, $200; Osmond Skarperud, $2,500; and the First National Bank of Mayville, $2,000; Simon Thompson, $2,500; and Ed Nygaard, $2,500, kindred.

The list of creditors totals more than 70, and the amount of their claims is approximately $170,000.

In his complaint, Mr. Nygaard declares that on Nov. 11, 1920, the Publishers National Service bureau gave him a promissory note for $2,500, payable in 90 days with interest at 10 percent and that neither the principal nor the interest has been paid. The complaint also sets forth that the service bureau has obligations amounting to over $188,000 with assets of about $123,000, much of which is represented in post-dated checks, and that because of this condition and because none of the assets is in cash the company is insolvent and has been so for more than a year.

Mr. Nygaard alleges that the company has not been in operation for about two years.

The man and woman, the witness told the Lake county officials, entered a car similar to that used by Burns. The woman then returned to the house, changed her light coat for a fur coat, and returned, carrying a flashlight.

A fur coat, torn and bloody was found near the spot where Mrs. Burns' body was discovered and a flashlight, on which were bloodstains was found in Burns' summer home near Painesville.

Burns, held in the Lake county jail at Painesville on a first degree murder charge was sent back to his cell early today after three hours of severe grilling, which will be resumed late today.

The prisoner has come through an almost continuous three day siege of all kinds of grilling still adamant in his denial.

A large attendance of Mandan and Bismarck Masons is expected here Tuesday night when Rev. W. J. Hutcheson, field secretary for the Masonic Service Association and Grand Secretary Stockwell, will deliver addresses. The meeting will be called at 8 p. m. in the Temple here. There will be no work, but the speakers will explain the aims of the service association and discuss general work of the lodge.

There will be a regional conference at 4:30 in the afternoon when the visitors will discuss the program for the coming year with the representatives of lodges in this section.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Production of rye, barley and potatoes for all countries reporting is larger than for the same countries last year the department of agriculture announced today. Rye production for 16 countries is placed at 101 per cent of production for the same countries in 1921, but only 91 per cent of the average yield for 1909-1913. Production in the United States and Canada is 163 per cent of the 1921 crop while production in Europe and countries is only 93 per cent.

Production of barley this year in 24 countries is placed at 104 per cent of the 1921 harvest, but only 96 per cent of the average yield for 1909-1913. The barley crop of the United States and Canada this year is 129 per cent of the 1921 crop, and for 15 countries it is 103 per cent.

The potato crop is reported largely in nearly all countries, total production being placed at 128 per cent of that for the same countries in 1921, and 101 per cent of the 1909-13 average.

Wheat production in 1922, according to the latest estimates, is 99 per cent of the 1921 yield, being 109 per cent in 169 per cent in North America and 61 per cent in Europe.

HOPE TO COAX COUNTRY BACK TO OLD POLICY

London, Oct. 30.—Arrangements between Conservatives and Coalition Liberals not to oppose one another candidates in certain constituencies are given prominence in today's Anti-Coalition newspapers. As they have it, the arrangements for cooperation or mutual non-opposition are spreading with an obvious drift toward reinstating Coalition in the government.

It is the contention of Free Liberals that this situation reveals that the country is being shepherded back to its old policy, the only difference being that it is in new hands. On the Thory side the extreme die hards are clearly restive over this supposed tendency.

BURNS DENIES WIFE KILLING; MONEY GONE

Secret Hoard of $2,700 in Home Now Missing Say Authorities

Cleveland, Oct. 30.—A secret hoard of $2,700, missing from his home here where Henry Burns told police authorities he cached it, provided Lake county authorities with a new lead today in their attempt to solve the murder of Burns' wife, whose body was found late Wednesday after the woman had been beaten into unconsciousness and buried alive in a shallow grave near Painesville. Prosecutor Osander and Deputy Sheriff Rasmussen of Lake county spent several hours last night searching for the money in the Burns home and in talking to neighbors.

The money, Burns had told the Lake county officials, had been hidden beneath a rug in his home. The officials made a thorough search but failed to find the money.

At the same time witnesses were found who say they saw a man and a woman they believed to be Burns and Mrs. Burns leave their home in an automobile late Tuesday night, according to Deputy Sheriff Rasmussen. This, the deputy sheriff said, added an important link to the chain of circumstantial evidence in the case.

The man and woman, the witness told the Lake county officials, entered a car similar to that used by Burns. The woman then returned to the house, changed her light coat for a fur coat, and returned, carrying a flashlight.

A fur coat, torn and bloody was found near the spot where Mrs. Burns' body was discovered and a flashlight, on which were bloodstains was found in Burns' summer home near Painesville.

Burns, held in the Lake county jail at Painesville on a first degree murder charge was sent back to his cell early today after three hours of severe grilling, which will be resumed late today.

The prisoner has come through an almost continuous three day siege of all kinds of grilling still adamant in his denial.

A large attendance of Mandan and Bismarck Masons is expected here Tuesday night when Rev. W. J. Hutcheson, field secretary for the Masonic Service Association and Grand Secretary Stockwell, will deliver addresses. The meeting will be called at 8 p. m. in the Temple here. There will be no work, but the speakers will explain the aims of the service association and discuss general work of the lodge.

There will be a regional conference at 4:30 in the afternoon when the visitors will discuss the program for the coming year with the representatives of lodges in this section.

In The Political Whirl

The "Independent Judiciary Campaign Committee" is spreading literature throughout the state bearing likenesses of Judge L. E. Birdsell, Judge W. L. Nussle and Attorney-General Sveinbjorn Johnson, endorsed by the Independents for the supreme court.

The Burleigh county campaign continues all week. F. E. McCurdy left for the northern part of the county to remain until election time. Lewis Crawford and Theodore Koffel, Independent speakers in the county, have been "loaned" to the state committee for work west of the river. Among those who will enter or re-enter the speaking campaign this week are C. L. Young, E. J. Taylor, Scott Cameron, I. C. Davies.

J. W. Deemy and Miss Aldyth Ward are scheduled for league meetings during the week. F. O. Hellstrom of Bismarck spoke in Fargo Saturday night in the interest of the league ticket.

J. A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the national executive committee of the Liberal party, which grew out of the activities of the Committee of 48, issued a statement in New York saying that the party candidates had chances in seven states, including North Dakota. J. W. Deemy, candidate for Congress in the Second district, is considered the representative of the new party and his supporters hope his vote will put the party on the national ballot in North Dakota in 1924.

A meeting of Independent women of Fargo was held Saturday afternoon in Fargo with a view of organizing in each precinct. The vote in Fargo was light in the last primary election and campaign workers are going to get all the voters out, if possible. Stark county Independents also are organizing in each precinct.

J. F. T. O'Connor will close his campaign at Grand Forks, his home city, next Monday night. Governor Nestos will speak at Kenmare next Saturday night.

A report from Sheridan county says that William Lemke's name was left off the Nonpartisan league ticket sent out in that county. On the other hand, Nonpartisans here claim that Lemke has made wonderful gains in the last week, and that the league chances for victory are immeasurably brighter.

In Ward county Independents are making an especially strong drive for the legislature with the promise that since Ward county is Governor Nestos' home town the county has a responsibility in giving him legislators with whom he can work. The Independent candidates are John Burns and Einar Mus in the Republican column and Nellie Daugherty and John Ehr in the Democratic column.

Tomorrow, October 31, is the last chance to register. You may do so at the polling places in Bismarck.

Gov. R. A. Nestos when in Minot this week told a humorous story which a chairman of a meeting down in Richland county recently used in introducing the governor as the principal speaker of the day. The chairman was a tontorial parlor proprietor, and active in politics in his local community.

As he was having a customer, an Irishman, their conversation incidentally turned to politics, and it was revealed that the son of Erin had not been in the state very long. Nevertheless he was anxious to get "lined up" on politics, he declared, and said that of late he had been doing some investigating regarding "this Irish governor who is a candidate for reelection."

"Irish governor" exclaimed the barber. "Where did you get any such idea as that?"

"Well his name is Nestos O'Connor, isn't it?" was the newcomer's query.

It is needless to say that the barber set his customer right on "politics" and explained that Mr. O'Connor is a separate entity.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 30.—Minnesota potato growers in the Red River Valley district will be informed relative to the needs of storing their crops, and the most satisfactory manner of handling by O. P. B. Jacobson, chairman state railroad and warehouse commission and N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, who will make an extended tour of that district beginning Monday, it was announced today.

Mr. Jacobson and Mr. Holmberg expect to stay at every principal potato shipping community in the Red River Valley district and give a detailed talk on the ear shortage situation, the reduced storage rates which were obtained by these officials several days ago and the need of immediate action in getting their potatoes "under cover."

He attempted to prevent and expose, and actually acquiesced in the fraudulent operations of A. C. Townley and his associates through which they swindled the farmers of the state of large sums of money through League enterprises, to wit:

(a) The Consumers Stores.

(b) The League Banks.

(c) The League newspapers.

He has counseled revolution if his faction could not obtain what they wanted with the ballot. This can only mean that if they found themselves in the minority they were to attempt to override the wishes of the majority by force. It is a direct attack on the principle of government by the people.

He has acquiesced in and encouraged the collecting of huge sums from the farmers of this state by an irresponsible organization, whose real leaders are almost without exception socialists, under the pretense that of developing a better marketing system, while as a matter of fact the money collected has been used for the spreading of socialist propaganda and for political purposes, and he has himself been the beneficiary of the activities made possible by the collection of such sums.

He attempted to destroy the secrecy of our Australian ballot law, under pretense of amending the absent voters' ballot law, which was held up by the I. V. A. referendum and was defeated by the voters on June 30, 1920. (See Session Laws 1921, page 252).

He attempted to intimidate and prevent all persons from criticizing or opposing existing and contemplated socialist ventures by the passage and approval of Chapter 41, Special Session of 1919, with its appropriation of $27,000 of the tax payers' money to be used by them for raising purposes, all of which was held up by the I. V. A. referendum and was defeated by the voters on June 30, 1920. (See Session Laws 1921, page 252).

He attempted to destroy the secrecy of our Australian ballot law, under pretense of amending the absent voters' ballot law, which was held up by the I. V. A. referendum and was defeated by the voters on June 30, 1920. (See Session Laws 1921, page 252).

He assisted in framing and approved Chapter 171, Session Laws of 1919, the anti-injunction law, legalizing strikes and protecting I. W. W. and other radical organizations in their forcible and lawless interference with our farm operations and deprived the farmers of this state and others of the only effective remedy against their lawlessness.

His sympathies were with the radical socialist, Kate Richards O'Hare, when she was being prosecuted in federal court for disloyalty, because of asserting in substance in her lectures that our boys who voluntarily went into the service of their country were only fit to fertilize the fields of France, and their mothers who permitted them to go were no better than brood sows, and after conviction he made an official appeal to President Wilson for her pardon.

He extended an official invitation in August, 1917, to the infamous Socialist "peace council" composed of Max Eastman, Thomas Van Lear and other well known socialists, outlawed in other states, to hold their meetings in North Dakota, and guaranteed them the protection of his office in such meeting.

He gave public and official assurance of protection to the I. W. W.'s who were invading our state, through his warning to all peace officers against interfering with them, which assurance of sympathetic protection this lawless element recognized by holding the national convention at New Rockford while he was governor.

He opposed and attempted to defeat the initiated I. V. A. law providing for the examination of the accounts and records of the various industries which he and his associates had established, which law was adopted over his protest by the voters on November 2, 1920. (See Session Laws 1921, page 254).

He persistently failed and refused to inform the tax payers of the state and even the legislative assembly of the financial condition of the enterprises into which he and his associates had caused the state to enter, he attempted to defeat legislative investigation by issuing an order as Governor and as member of the Industrial Commission directing the persons having the records of such enterprises in charge not to deliver them to the Legislative Committee appointed to investigate such enterprises; he continually represented that each of said enterprises was sound and successful and well managed, whereas in fact each of them was rotten with the graft of his subordinates and was operated at a great loss to the tax payers. We enumerate some of his concealments:

(a) The financial loss and graft in the Werner creamery.

(b) The gross mismanagement and losses at the Drake mill.

(c) The gross mismanagement and losses in the Bank of North Dakota.

(d) The inefficient management of the Mill and Elevator Association.

(e) The indefensible condition of the Home Builders Association, with its shameful record of graft and incompetence and a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars of the tax payers' money.

He and the other members of the Industrial Commission are responsible for the mismanagement of the Home Builders Association, resulting in a loss to the state estimated at more than $300,000.

He and the other members of the Industrial Commission are responsible for the mismanagement of the other state enterprises, which according to the best estimates will result in a final loss of from two to three million dollars.

He is jointly responsible with others for the Scandinavian-American Bank scandal, using his influence to have it reopened after it had been closed by the Banking Board as unsafe and insolvent, which resulted in additional losses to the bank's depositors; he is jointly responsible with others for the loans and redepots of large amounts of public funds in the Scandinavian-American Bank, which bank in turn lent it to the League leaders, and when this bank was finally closed it owed the State Bank, in the form of loans and redepots, more than $400,000; he is responsible for the acts of former Bank Examiner O. E. Loftus, who was instrumental in getting the bank reopened, and who was reappointed by Governor Frazier though he was fully cognizant of Loftus' connection with this affair.

He is responsible for Loss in Homebuilders Association and Other Industries.

He and the other members of the Industrial Commission are responsible for the mismanagement of the Home Builders Association, resulting in a loss to the state estimated at more than $300,000.

He and the other members of the Industrial Commission are responsible for the mismanagement of the other state enterprises, which according to the best estimates will result in a final loss of from two to three million dollars.

Every fair minded voter who reads the foregoing will admit that every charge that has been made against Frazier, as reasons for not voting for him for United States Senator, has been established so positively that there is no room for doubt or dispute as to his guilt. The only question that now remains is whether or not you, as a voter and good citizen, can afford to encourage such misconduct on the part of public officials by voting for the guilty one for the highest office within the gift of the people of North Dakota in face of the record he made for himself as governor of this state. Can North Dakota afford to send a man with such a record to the United States Senate or any place else in the world? Can we rightfully expect to be either respected or trusted by the people of other states if we voice approval of such misconduct of public affairs and abuse of public confidence as Mr. Frazier is guilty of?

Mr. Frazier has made no effort to either answer or explain these charges. There can be no other answer in North Dakota than the election of O'Connor—a clean and capable man of unquestioned integrity.

J. P. HARDY HEADS RED CROSS DRIVE

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, Oct. 30.—J. P. Hardy, postmaster at Fargo, N. D., has been appointed by the American Red Cross as state director in charge of the sixth annual roll call, beginning Armistice Day, Nov. 11, and ending Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Hardy will direct all the arrangements for the roll call campaign through the 53 Red Cross chapters in the state and will be assisted by Mr. B. P. Krick, chief of Red Cross service at the United States veterans' bureau, who will be in charge of the roll call office located at Fargo.

STATE MILL
OPERATING AT GRAND FORKS

GOV. NESTOS ADDRESS
"We are met today to celebrate the formal opening of the state owned mill and elevator. Since the day when the first work was done over two years ago until this moment, many citizens and taxpayers of our state have been anxiously watching the progress and wondering as to the final result of this enterprise.
"During 1919 no work was being done on the project, but since the frost was out of the ground last spring until the present time, work has again been prosecuted rapidly until today one of the units of the mill is operating and capable of grinding over 1,000 barrels of flour a day, and the elevator is receiving, cleaning and storing grain.
"There is of course still considerable work to be done in connecting up the machinery in the other two units of the mill and in the elevator, and installing the balance of the machinery in the power plant but this will be prosecuted vigorously, and the mill and elevator completed to its full capacity very soon.
"This is what the present administration promised the people that they would do. I elected and this promise has been fully and fairly kept.
"Some of the people of the state who apparently had failed to inform themselves as to what had been done at the mill and elevator during this year have been unjustly and unfairly criticizing us for not completing the project earlier in the fall. They overlooked the fact that all the main contracts for supervision, construction of buildings and the building of the main part of the machinery had been let by the former administration and that the present administration had to depend upon these men selected by their predecessors to do the work and do it as rapidly as possible. Every time I talked with any of these men during the spring and summer they promised me that they would complete the work as soon as was possible and in fairness to them I will say that considering the great amount of work to be done I believe they have completed the project as rapidly as it was possible to do so.
"We have secured a superintendent of the mill and of the elevator, men of wide and successful experience in the line of work they are here called upon to do, and both of these men have been very successful in completing the work and in the economical operation of both the mill and the elevator.
"We have not yet hired the general manager, as we are anxious to secure for this position the most experienced and capable man that can be secured for the salary that we can afford to pay. We have investigated a dozen prospects and hope soon to procure the right man for the place.
"A few have offered the criticism that we should not have opened any part of the plant until the whole project was ready. I do not believe this criticism is just. The units of the mill and the different legs of the elevator can be operated independently of each other. Since one of these units is now ready it seems good business to begin operations and to secure a market for the thousand barrels per day that the unit can mill.
"In this way we shall be able to build our selling organization and our market gradually, and therefore on a more stable basis.
"It has been our aim in completing the mill and elevator to eliminate all political considerations, and to handle the work, and secure the management in as businesslike a manner as possible.
"We are confident that the project cannot be made a success if it is made a football of politics, and that the only way in which it will have a chance to succeed is by eliminating all politics from the management of the plant, and to run it on a strictly business basis—efficiently, honestly, and economically.
"We pledge to the people of the state such an administration as the business of the mill and elevator to the end that it may succeed if success is possible.
"In opening the plant today, I wish to emphasize the thought that it belongs to all the people of the state—to those who do not believe it can succeed as well as to those who have faith that the project can be made to pay for the investment made. Since it belongs to all of you, I sincerely hope that you all will co-operate fully in the task of making it as successful as possible and thereby promote your own interests as taxpayers of the state.
"The people expect it to be run as a business institution and to make sufficient money to pay a reasonable return on the investment made; it must not be operated either as a charity or as a political machine.
"With the splendid wheat raised in this section and with skill and experience on the part of our employees, we expect a flour equal to the very best produced in the northwest, and one which will sell for the same price and give general satisfaction.
"Since the act which created the Mill and Elevator Association and provided for the construction failed to provide for the sale of bonds to secure the operating capital, we shall be rather handicapped until the legislature and makes provision for adequate operating capital, but we are confident that we can secure sufficient funds to run the institution until that time by selling our flour for cash.
"Now that we have been able to sell our flour at less than 5 per cent interest, one cannot help wishing that the law had also permitted the sale of bonds to provide operating capital.
"I hope that you, the taxpayers, whose institution this is, will use the splendid flour from this mill

What Caused the Argument

Here's the start of the race between the Canadian Bluenose and the Henry Ford, American entry, off Gloucester, Mass. The Henry Ford (right) won. Captains of both fishing schooners considered it a race, but officials declared it "no race" since the skippers disregarded their signal to return after the start.

in your homes and bakeries, and that before long we may be permitted to supply at least 90 per cent of the flour needs of North Dakota and northern Minnesota so located as to make the freight rates from Grand Forks bearable.
"It is the desire of the administration to make a success of the operation of this plant. We do not know that it can be done, but we do know that the only way by which success is at all possible is by operating the mill and elevator in a businesslike way—honestly, efficiently, and economically. We also realize that it is going to be easier to achieve success, if we can secure the co-operation of all the citizens of the state.
"On behalf of the Industrial Commission and the management of the mill and elevator, I ask that the sympathetic help and co-operation be given us and we, in turn, assure you that the project will have a full fair and honest trial, and the taxpayers of the state given a square deal.

GRAND JURY TO

MINOT AFFAIRS

quarters in Minot was received here today.
Attorney General Craig of Manitoba said he was pleased that an effort was being made to curb the activities of the communists, but that he was doubtful if the procedure was the best to be taken.
"I doubt very much," he said, "that a public investigation will avail anything. A secret investigation would be more effective."
The department of justice at Ottawa has been asked by Manitoba authorities to request the United States department of justice to interfere itself in the criminal element at Minot.

SAYS CONDITIONS JUSTIFY.
Fargo, N. D., Oct. 30.—"Conditions in Minot amply justify" the calling of a special federal grand jury for investigation, M. A. Hildreth, United States district attorney for North Dakota declared today in discussing the situation in that city. He refused any further public statement on the matter.

A. A. Stone, federal prohibition director in North Dakota blamed Minot's location as the only large city in the state so near the border for the fact that some liquor traffic had passed through the town.
Only six or seven liquor cases tried at the recent term of federal court in that city had resulted in convictions because most of them were old he said and had been begun before the federal machinery had begun to function smoothly because agents making arrests had been scattered all over the country and because of a ruling that only warrants based on evidence of sale were admissible.
Recent cases resulted in convictions he said.

Will Open Free Night
School in Mandan

Members of the Board of Education at a meeting held Thursday evening in consultation with men and women representing various societies in the city decided to open a night school in the Custer school building to teach English, history and a business course.
There will be no tuition charge. The night school will be in charge of one competent instructor with several assistants in the respective branches. This will afford a splendid opportunity for those of all ages who wish to get a better understanding of the English language, mathematics and history. The school is to be operated in conjunction with the state drive on literacy. There are many citizens here who have perhaps a fair education in some foreign language who will avail themselves of this opportunity, for the school will be free to all from six to sixty and of both sexes.

Sheriff on Stickers

Charles Macdonald, deputy sheriff of Morton county, will be a candidate for election as sheriff.
This decision was reached by Macdonald after a petition circulated by his friends and signed by hundreds of Morton county citizens was presented to him, urging that he become a candidate for sheriff since the death of Sheriff Brady.
Since it is too late for Mr. Macdonald's name to appear on the official ballot, he will run "on stickers." That is his name will be pasted in on the ballot.

HALL-MILLS
JURY REMOTE

Notices Not Yet Served on Grand Jury

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 30.—Possibility that the Hall-Mills murder case would be presented to the grand jury today seemed remote. Information from Somerville, county seat, was to the effect that notices had not been forwarded to members of the grand jury and that it would require at least 24 hours for the inquirers to assemble after receiving notice.
Special Deputy Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott today reiterated his confidence in the story told him by Mrs. Jane Gibson, woman farmer, that she witnessed the murders.
Two witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Tingle, who live diagonally across from the Phillips farm, have corroborated Mrs. Gibson's story insofar as the hour of the murders is concerned.

CAR SITUATION
TIES UP MINE

Wilton, N. D., Oct. 30.—The car situation is still acute, but the railroads have promised relief with the next month. Both the Soo and Northern Pacific road, which run branch lines into Wilton are doing everything possible to furnish empty cars for the big mines of The Washburn Lignite Coal company. Last week the plant was down a day and a half but the output averaged close to 1,800 tons per day.
Very few box cars are available but the roads are furnishing a fair quota of gondolas and while dealers prefer the closed cars, the great demand for fuel makes any kind of a carrier acceptable.

LA FOLLETTE
COMES TO CITY

Seeks Quiet Because of Recent Illness

Robert M. LaFollette, United States senator from Wisconsin, arrived in Bismarck at 11:33 a. m. today, to speak in the city Auditorium tonight. Senator LaFollette was met at the train by a number of Nonpartisan league workers and others. He was accompanied by his son, Phil.
Suffering from the effects of a recent illness, Senator LaFollette immediately went to his room at the McKenzie hotel and declined to consider a public luncheon, it being planned to have luncheon served in his room.
Because of his desire to obtain rest comparatively few callers were admitted by the Senator. He asked to be excused from newspaper interviews until late in the day.

TO SPEAK IN FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 30.—Robert M. LaFollette, United States senator from Wisconsin will speak tomorrow at some time between 8:30 and 5:30 p. m. it was announced at Nonpartisan League headquarters today. He is coming into the state to support the candidacy of Lynn J. Frazier for the senatorship.

INJURED IN PLANE SMASHUP

Washburn, N. D., Oct. 30.—A. A. Bannister, of Linton, who was here with his airplane, had a wreck at Garrison Sunday evening while he was taking up his second passenger. While here Mr. Bannister did a "land office" business as he was busy the entire three days taking up thrill of riding in an air plane. At no time while he was here did the slightest mishap occur and everybody who took the ride up and down the river and over the town said it was great. About two dozen of both men and women took the ride here at Washburn.

Mr. Bannister left here Sunday evening for Garrison. While taking off with his second passenger, the wing of his plane struck a telephone pole and the plane crashed to the ground. He escaped without injury, but his passenger, O. Krueger, a garage man at Garrison suffered a severe scalp wound and a broken leg below the left knee. The plane was a complete wreck.
The cause of the accident was due to the plane not getting under speed fast enough to take it above the telephone wires before it got to them. In attempting to miss a group of wires, by dodging them one wing of his plane struck a pole. The engine broke Mr. Krueger's leg when it fell.

FOR A COUNTY AGENT
Voters of Burleigh county will decide on November 7th whether or not the county shall undertake Cooperative Agricultural Extension work. The commissioners, believing the matter ought to be settled by the voters and having a petition before them requesting a vote on the matter, have placed it on the ballot.

It is proposed to make possible by this vote the employment of an all-time agricultural worker, whose services shall be offered to the farmers and farmers organizations of the county. It is a business proposition.

It is particularly desirable that Burleigh county undertake this work now, when one dairy circuit is pioneering in the development of that industry in the county. The county agent can, and would, be of great assistance in the promotion of dairying. Potato raising is increasing in the county and diversification in farming is developing rapidly. Agriculture in this and other counties is in the process of readjustment. Farmers organization and individuals could be greatly aided in the solution of many perplexing problems by a well-trained county agent, through whom the entire facilities of the Agricultural College are made more accessible to the people of the county.

A county agent was employed last spring for 60 days. A comparison with the previous year shows that with the county agent on the job Burleigh county farmers received several thousand dollars more in loans than in 1921 when there was no agent to push the applications. This is an indication that the expenditure of the modest sum required to support Cooperative Agricultural Extension work would be a good investment.

THE CHECK NUISANCE
Do you, when you nonchalantly walk into a store and ask that your check be cashed, realize the favor you are asking of the merchant? And have you ever broken the faith that he places in you when he performs this service for you? You may not have broken faith, but there are many who have. The check nuisance has become the check menace.

To give a check on a bank without sufficient funds to meet it is a serious offense, yet there are Bismarck merchants who have many checks for small amounts which have been given them and returned from the bank marked "no funds."

Bismarck merchants have continued to put faith in the people who cash checks, and have been loathe to take united action to protect themselves. In many cities merchants have organized for their protection, either a retail credit men's association or have had established a department in the Commercial club. By having a central clearing house they are able to receive the advice from each other to be on guard against those who often presume upon many merchants by presenting and cashing bad checks. It would be justifiable, and well, if Bismarck merchants should taken similar action.

HOUSEWIVES
American housewives, if paid "market rates" for work they do in the homes, would have a combined income of $10,000,000,000 a year. This is the estimate by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Her estimate is too low. It should be multiplied by at least six, for work done in the home surely balances work outside, and the latter this year gives the nation an income of $60,000,000,000.

After all, it is rather futile to attempt to put a money value on services that cannot be measured in dollars. The average mother undergoes privations and self-denial that strangers would not shoulder for $10,000 a year.

DRY
Mustapha Kemal sends to Thrace and Constantinople the sad word that he will bring prohibition with him when he moves in.

Mohammedan religion forbids the drinking of alcoholic beverages.

Kemal's punishment for drinkers will be a stiff fine, several months in jail and 49 lashes with the whip. Science long has sought a cure for alcoholic thirst. Kemal seems on a fair way to finding it.

Many probably have been interested in Kemal, under the delusion that he was related to kummel, the liqueur.

BEER
Germany is exporting only half as much of its famous beer as in the days before the war. The cause? Prohibition in America.

Many will see, in this, the most interesting "problem in foreign trade."

However, at this season of the year, memory turns less to foaming steins of German beer than to the old-time bowl of "Tom and Jerry" that used to grace the center of the bar.

SAFETY
In India jungles the semi-savages dodge snakes and man-killing beasts. In civilized cities we dodge autos and other kinds of accidents.

Man is unable to escape from danger. Nature is wise, it's all for the best. Presence of danger makes us cautious, develops our resourcefulness. Constant battle with danger keeps us alert. And without alertness, no progress.

The melodrama, life, is craftily stage-managed by nature.

DANGER
British India reports that 19,396 of its residents were killed by snake bite last year. About 3400 others were eaten by wild beasts. Disease-bearing jungle insects killed many times more than snakes and wild animals combined.

This makes the simple life of the wilderness less attractive. However, on a population basis, autos in America are more deadly than the snakes and beasts in India. More highly civilized we become, the more dangerous life is.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important news which are being discussed in the press of the day.

CHURCH ARCHITECTURE

There are many who claim that with the culmination of the Gothic in the sixteenth century architecture ceased to be a living art. For 400 years development of architectural styles has been on more than the modification or elaboration of earlier styles. And much of it has been very bad. For a considerable time the deterioration was steady and seemingly hopeless. In England the Georgian architecture was abominable and the Victorian was worse. American architecture has not always imitated English styles, but the English influence has been strong.

Bishops of the Episcopal church recently assembled in convention have officially condemned the ugliness of American churches. They have declared that the churches of the Episcopal denomination are the best to be found, but they are very unworthy best. The bishops estimate that only 1 per cent of their own churches are excellent, while 9 per cent are passably good. Of the rest 15 per cent are mediocre and 75 per cent either poor or dreadful. There is a harsh judgment, but it is not too harsh. A great many American ecclesiastical edifices are blighted by the touch of Victorianism. More recent edifices are better, for the architects have sought, with varying success, to go back to the inspiration of the men who wrought of old, when architecture was still alive. The very new churches, which have been designed along these lines, and the very old churches, relics of early colonial days when Christopher Wren's rejuvenated Romanesque was the dominant style, include practically all the buildings that are admirable.

It has been fortunate that church edifices have long lives. The magnificent Gothic structures of the Middle Ages are the inspiration to-day. But, unhappily, the unworthy may be only a little less durable than the worthy, and the hideous Victorian churches which disfigure our American cities will doubtless remain for a long time to amaze and horrify. But they will pass eventually, for they will not be preserved by the loving care which is bestowed on old churches that are worth preserving. It should be the care of our church builders that their work is not regarded by the next generation as the Victorian churches of America are regarded by the men and women of today—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TWO PARISIEN HEROES

This has been a great year for the negro in Paris. First the Goncourt academy of literature as-tounded the Parisian world of letters by giving the Goncourt prize for the best novel of the year to Marceline Desbordes-Valmore, the work of Rene Maran, a full-blooded negro. There was little consolation for the Caucasian race. In this award, the father of Maran was a native of Martinique, the mother of Guadeloupe. To be sure, he was born at Bordeaux, France, and had gained his African experience upon which his book was based while serving in the French colonial offices in Central Africa. But his book was an outspoken criticism of French officialdom and was in effect a plea on behalf of his dark and subject brethren.

Now, on a different level of culture but not hardly less interesting to the white race, it would seem, and one for which the white race has certainly laid down the rules of competition. Siki, the Senegalese, pounds his way to triumph. That large portion of Paris which was proud to have a black man in America, the result with complete impartiality, turning against its hero of its own color with that cheerful frankness which seems to be the trait of most crowds without regard to nationality.

Is there any moral for the white man or the black man in America? The double achievement rather signifies those extreme advocate of white supremacy who assert that the negro belongs inevitably in a lowly walk of life. It supports those friends of the negro who ask that he have a free chance to develop in those cases of unmistakable talent of which Rene Maran is a clear example.—New York Tribune.

AMERICA'S INSPIRATION ITS OWN HISTORY

How is the spirit of a free people to be formed and animated and cheered, but one of the storehouse of its historic recollections? Are we to be eternally ringing the changes upon Marathon and Thermopylae, and going back to read in old texts of Greek and Latin, and of the exemplars of patriotic virtue? I thank God that we can find them nearer home, in our own country, on our own soil—that trains of the noblest sentiment that ever swelled in the breast of man are breathing to us out of every page of our country's history. In the native eloquence of our mother tongue—that the colonial and provisional councils of America exhibit to us models of the spirits and character that gave Greece and Rome their name and their praise among nations. Here we ought to go for instruction—the lesson is plain, it is clear, it is applicable.—Edward Everett.

To the Voters of Burleigh County:

I am now actively engaged in my candidacy for auditor of Burleigh County to which I was nominated at the June Primaries. Your vote is earnestly solicited.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE FLAPPER

Beauty Specialist Explains How Bobbed Hair, Now 'Out,' Can be Dressed to Conform to Style

By Marian Hale

Behold the transformation wrought by the reformation of the flapper!

At the left you recognize the close-up rear view of what has been the most-talked-of issue since the war, the bobbed hair—in its natural state.

Passing on, you see what seems to be a lovely head of hair, done in a sweet, womanly way.

It's the same girl and the same hair, with the addition of some more in the way of a wig, designed particularly for the growing-out period.

Picture three shows how elaborate a structure may be erected on a bobbed foundation if one is equipped with a chignon or so, and a bandeau.

At the right you see the way the successor to the flapper will frame her face this season.

Madame Louise Berthelon of New York and Paris, who erected these coiffures, supplied the why-when-where element of the story as she added hair and punctuated it with hairpins.

"With the long lines and Grecian draperies of this season, you can't have a large head and a short neck," she said. "Bobbed hair was always all right in front, but not in the back, because it hid that line of beauty from the side between the back of the ear and the nape of the neck."

"The beauty of bobbed hair lay in its youthfulness. A woman could lose ten years in a barber shop. So this season we will keep the soft line about the face, and arrange the front hair quite as if it were bobbed, but it must be dressed in the back and the roughed loose of the ear must show.

"The bobbed one buys one of the new switches, which is joined in the center and works both ways. She pins this to the back of her head securely, then pins her own bobbed locks over this. She brings the ends about and coils them over each ear, keeping the bobbed ends carefully concealed beneath the coils.

"This makes a flat coiffure, not too stiff for her hat, but harmonizing with this season's gowns.

shall makes the statement that he has outdone any of his previous efforts in the line of musical comedy. No expense has been spared to make this most gorgeous production ever offered for home talent production.

The scenery is an artistic creation done in orange and black making a very gorgeous and striking background for the actors and singers. The gowns to be worn by girls are a marvel in fashion. The scene being laid in Atlantic City, they must be such. The music is all brand new and will give you something new to whistle for a while. The topscorean end of the show calls for some clever work on the part of the chorus which by the way, is not merely a background for the principals, but a feature in itself. Beautiful electrical effects have been added to the show this year which make it all the more pleasing to the eye.

The young lady who will play the leading feminine role will wear a dress brought here by Mr. Cogshall which will interest the ladies. The gown is a copy of a dinner frock made for Irene Castle by the Corticelli Silk Co. It is a lovely creation in white satin and tulle.

The comedy situations throughout the story are side splitting and taking it all in all "Goodness Gracious!" is one of the sprightliest and merriest musical comedies ever written. The production calls for about 40 people in all.

Two performances will be given on Armistice Day, November 11th Matinee and night at The Auditorium.

SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH WELL ATTENDED

Two full services were enjoyed yesterday at the Baptist church in the revival meeting being conducted by Rev. J. E. Naylor of the Department of Evangelism of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. The subject of Mr. Naylor's morning sermon was, "Spiritual Law." Mr. Naylor declared that "Growth in the Christian life depends upon keeping our eyes fixed on Christ." Salvation is the result of obedience on our part.

The topic for the evening was "Evangelism—From Deep Sea Tragedies," drawn from the wrecking of the Titanic. Europe and the collision of the Florida and the public off Nantucket Light. The lesson brought by the evangelism from these famous wrecks was, many a wreck in life is caused by the failure or neglect on the part of the individual to take warning. On the other hand many a life has been saved through heeding the constant promise of help which Christ holds out to the world.

At the decision hour in the Sunday school thirteen children came forward at the invitation of the evangelist as he made the appeal for personal decision for Christ. In the evening seven candidates were baptized and received the hand of church fellowship by the pastor. The special meetings will continue through the week ending with Saturday. Persons who desire to become members of the church are asked to meet the pastor at any time and confer about church membership.

BISMARCK WILL BATTLE FARGO FOR STATE TITLE

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS MEET HERE SOON

State High School Board of Control Rules the Teams Shall Settle Championship

EXPECTS RECORD CROWD

Guarantee of $500 made for Game, and Local Authorities Ask General Support

The football teams of Bismarck and Fargo high school will battle for the scholastic championship of the state in Bismarck next Friday of the week following. A definite date will be announced later.

This announcement was made by Coach Houser of the Bismarck team in a meeting after a telephone conversation with B. C. Tighe, principal of the Fargo high school and president of the high school league board of control.

Fargo wanted the game badly and offered a good guarantee. The Bismarck authorities must guarantee $500 for the game, and they hope to have general support in making it. Phil Meyer and a few other local business men who have been following the local team planned yesterday to back the team for the guarantee by having 20 business men pledge $25 each. The high school athletic authorities, however, believe that with general support they can swing the guarantee through the high school athletic association.

Are Clearly the Best.

The Fargo and Bismarck high school teams clearly stand out as the best in the state on paper. The order to play the championship game, however, comes as a result of Williston, Grand Forks, Valley City and Minot failing to keep up their membership dues in the association, according to word received here.

The Bismarck team on "dope" is the best in the west half of the state. Bismarck beat Minot 12 to 0, while Williston was barely able to squeeze a 11 to 13 victory. Fargo had already beaten Grand Forks, which took the best in the Northwestern part of the state, although Cavalier was putting in a claim.

Fargo's decisive defeat of Lisbon placed her above the Valley City team, although latest word was that these two teams would play. There is no doubt, however, in the minds of athletic coaches but that Fargo and Bismarck stand out above the other teams and it will be a real championship battle.

Have Fast Team.

Fargo is said to depend chiefly on a lightning fast backfield and forward passes.

The Bismarck team is in good shape, Coach Houser said today, although a few of the boys are suffering from the flu. Under the direction of Coach Houser the Bismarck team has developed as the season has advanced, and with the boys who were green at the start improving and the team playing as a unit, the aggregation will be a hard one to beat.

A pleasant feature of the relations of Mandan and Bismarck high schools was that a number of the Mandan players came over to Bismarck after the game Friday afternoon, played the local team and declared they'd be rooting for Bismarck in the finals.

"MAY PLAY," SAYS FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 30.—Fargo and Bismarck may play this week end for the high school championship honors of North Dakota according to an announcement made today by officials of the state high school athletic league.

Williston, Grand Forks and Valley City are eliminated from competition by failure to join the league before October 1, the date set by the state league it was announced.

Bismarck holds the undisputed championship of the southwestern district while Fargo wins the southeastern title by the elimination of Valley City.

"GRID" GAME HAS FLAVOR OF DIAMOND

There was considerable baseball flavor to the recent football game between Centre and Harvard.

Cherney Moran, the coach of the Centre College team, is an umpire in the National League during the summer months.

Ernie Quigley, who referred the game, is also a member of the National League staff of umpires.

During the summer Moran and Quigley were paired up in a majority of the games played. They do say the pair talked college football almost to the exclusion of the national pastime.

"Whaddye think we are playing, football? Wake up and get in this game," was a favorite expression of the thirties.

Quigley says the Centre game is the first contest he ever worked in which he felt certain there would be no complaint from either of the coaches.

Frank Dodd is one of the mainstays of the West Point back field. Aside from possessing plenty of speed, Dodd is able to do his share of line plunging when necessary. He is one of the stars of the 1922 team which looms up as a mighty strong aggregation.

BILL WOODS

In a pinch no member of the West Point back field is called upon more often than Bill Woods. When the Army eleven lacks a few yards of the required distance the ball is invariably handed to Bill Woods. The word fight is his first name.

Billy Evans Says—

Harvard's defeat of Centre by the rather lopsided score of 24 to 10 was rather unexpected. True, Harvard was favored to win, but not by such a wide margin.

An analysis of the game shows that the two eleven were far more evenly matched than the score makes it seem. Harvard scored 21 points in the first period. In the last periods Centre made 10 points to three for Harvard.

Unquestionably the victory of Harvard by such a big score was made possible through the break rather than by so wide a superiority of play. Poor judgment on the part of Centre may have brought about the breaks that really decided the outcome of the game.

Harvard started the game by kicking off to Centre and the ball went over the goal line. Centre brought the ball out and put it into play on its 20-yard line. Right here came the break that decided the game.

Centre had no idea of Harvard's strength. To test it inside of Con-

GEORGE SMYTHE

In George Smythe West Point has one of the best quarterbacks the Army has boasted of for years. Coach Major Daly is confident that Smythe will play an important role in the victory he is confident his team will score over Annapolis this year.

The quarterback position at West Point is shared by Lawrence and George Smythe. In the games in which he has played Lawrence has run his team with excellent judgment and proved a strong man on the offense. He is an adept at forward passing.

tre's 20-yard line certainly would not be regarded as good football. The logical thing would have been to get the ball out of danger before putting Harvard to the test.

To have punted out of danger would have been good football. It would have enabled little Centre to have gotten a better line on big Harvard. On the first play Snow-day made three yards off tackle. On the next play he fumbled badly, the ball rolling toward the Centre goal. Fitts of Harvard finally recovering it on the four-yard line.

That was the break of the game, it spelled victory for Harvard, defeat for Centre. On the very first play Owen of Harvard went over for a touchdown.

In the second period Centre tried a forward pass inside its own 30-yard line. Such a play is known as "sucker" football. It proved to be just that in this case as Gherke of Harvard intercepted the pass. It enabled Plaffman of Harvard to kick a field goal.

The statistics of the game show that Centre made 16 first downs to seven for Harvard. Centre once gained 50 consecutive yards yet had to be content with a field goal when Harvard finally held.

Centre's fumble on the second play of the game, giving Harvard the ball four yards from Centre's goal line, was the break that made possible the margin of Harvard's victory.

EAST MATCHES WEST-VICTORY IN FOOTBALL

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Oct. 30.—The West has been east and conquered; the east has come west and won, and the curtain has fallen on the classics of intersectional football. It may stay down for a long, long time, but never so long that the east or the west will forget what happened.

Princeton's 21 to 18 victory over Chicago has gone into football history with Yale's 8 to 0 defeat by Iowa, and the east and west, the "big three" and the "big ten" in a way, are on even terms. The close margins of victory in both games make it so.

With the decks cleared for the championship race in the big ten, five teams remain undefeated by conference rivals. Only two games this week are strictly conference affairs, with the Wisconsin-Minnesota clash at Minneapolis, the most important from a big ten viewpoint. Neither eleven has swallowed defeat, although Minnesota was given a taste in the tie game with Northwestern. The Badgers, idle last Saturday, have played but one game.

Northwestern meets Illinois at Urbana in the only other conference game next Saturday. Both Chicago and Iowa will be idle and Michigan, the other of the five leaders, plays the Michigan Aggies at Ann Arbor. Ohio State is the third member of the big ten which has no game scheduled this week.

Indiana, humbled by two defeats, plays the Notre Dame eleven, which went into the south last Saturday and came back with a 13 to 3 victory over Georgia Tech. Purdue, rolled under a 55 to 0 score by the powerful Iowa machine, engages in another Hoosier affair with Wabash.

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN LARGE IN SEPTEMBER

Report of Federal Reserve Agent Shows It Not as Large as Last Year

EMPLOYMENT WAS GOOD

Sheep Grower in Best Position In Years Result of the New Tariff Law

Minneapolis, Oct. 30.—In spite of the car shortage grain movement during the month has been above normal, according to the report of John H. Rich, federal reserve agent for the ninth district, in his monthly review of business conditions in the Northwest.

"The movement of farm products to market is the subject of paramount interest this month," he states. "The large grain crop harvested has brought shipments above normal. Fortunately, the market, have been able to absorb this in increased volume of offerings at prices practically unchanged. The demand for cars has been hard to meet with the existing equipment. Railroads have shown every reasonable consideration, however, in those localities requiring cars to move perishable products. There should be a decreasing pressure to market in each succeeding month. The transportation burden is certainly the greatest now while endeavoring to move an extraordinarily large production of potatoes before freezing temperatures prevail, as well as to move the usual run of range cattle before bad weather and snow sets in."

Grain receipts at the head of the Lakes and Minneapolis were two-thirds larger in September than in August, and one-fifth larger than in September, the report says.

Livestock Receipts Decline

Receipts of livestock at South St. Paul shows a slight decline from the August figure in calves, an unchanged movement of cattle and hogs, and an increase of one-fourth in receipts of sheep. Receipts of cattle, which normally increase about one-half between August and September, were unchanged; but as the movement has been abnormally large during the whole year, it is not surprising that the increase did not occur, the report says.

Prices at central markets in the Northwest for the principal products of the farm evidenced remarkable stability, with some gains during the month of September, Mr. Rich states. At South St. Paul the medium prices of important grades of killing cattle remained practically unchanged but stocker and feeder steers declined a trifle. Calves, hogs and hogs, on the other hand, showed pronounced gains.

Stocks of grain at Minneapolis and the head of the Lakes were at most one-half larger than at the end of August, but one-sixth smaller than a year ago.

The Northwestern coal situation has improved on account of receipts at the head of the Lakes of 17 times as much soft coal during September as during August and a further limited amount of hard coal, it is stated. Soft coal receipts during September were more than twice as large as a year ago. It is estimated in the report there will be a total of water-hauled coal of 4 million tons this year, if weather remains good, compared with 9 million tons last year.

Full Effects Realized

"The full effects of the shortage are not yet realized, and will only be seen when it handicaps those manufacturing firms of the Northwest using rail-hauled coal, who compete this winter with firms which are supplied with water-hauled coal, or coal which is not carried so far to the consumer."

The volume of retail trade in the Ninth reserve district reflected seasonal influences in September, the report says. Retail stocks did not show much change in size. General merchandise stocks were larger.

Employment conditions continued satisfactory and normal during September.

In a special report on the outlook for the American sheep grower the report says:

"The sheep grower in the United States is today in the strongest strategic position which he has ever attained. The United States consumes considerably more wool each year than is produced in this country and the balance has been made up heretofore by importation. On September 21 the Fordney-McCumber law went into effect, placing a tariff on wool and sheep products which gives the United States sheep grower a great advantage. The sheep growers best move, now, appears to be to increase production as rapidly as possible in order that the price of wool may not go to exorbitant heights."

WOULD JOIN 16 STANDARD RAIL UNIONS

St. Paul Man Announces Committee Meeting for Discussion of Plan

ONE IN OPPOSITION

Secretary of Shop Crafts Says Unions Not Ready to Amalgamate

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 30.—A national conference of railroad men, to "devise ways and means" of effecting an amalgamation of the sixteen standard railroad organizations will be held in Chicago, Dec. 9 and 10, O. H. Wangerin of St. Paul, secretary-treasurer of the National Committee on Amalgamation, announced today.

The call, which will go to about 11,000 local lodges, will be sent out late this week, according to Mr. Wangerin. Each local union or local and system federations is entitled to two delegates.

"The national conference will devise ways and means not only to win the railroad unions completely for amalgamation," Mr. Wangerin said, "but also to bring about their actual consolidation into one body."

"The policy of the national committee to amalgamate the 16 standard railroad organizations and the plan of amalgamation proposed by it is positively opposed to secessionism and all dual organizations such as the one big union."

"To stop these dualistic tendencies, it is absolutely necessary to take steps immediately to consolidate all unions as speedily as possible. Thousands of local unions, hundreds of local federations, and the international conventions of railway clerks and the maintenance of way men, have endorsed the plan."

Mr. Wangerin pointed out that the purpose of the proposed amalgamation is a move for economy and facility of action, in that the sixteen standard organizations would maintain their separate entities, but operate under one unit of organization, instead of 16 separate units.

NOT READY, HE SAYS

Chicago, Oct. 30.—John Scott, secretary of the railway federated shop crafts, today declared that railroad unions were not ready for amalgamation, when informed of an announcement from St. Paul that a national conference to discuss amalgamation of the 16 so called standard unions, had been called.

"There can be no amalgamation of transportation unions until there is friendly cooperation," Mr. Scott said. "If the trainmen's organizations had cooperated with the federated shop crafts in its strike by refusing to handle defective equipment, the strike would have been ended in short order."

WILL REBUILD IN BELFIELD

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 30.—Even before the debris was cold in the fire at Belfield Tuesday several of the business men of that place who lost heavily in the fire, began to lay plans for the reconstruction of several of the business houses burned. Frank Sharman, whose garage was completely destroyed, and Mr. Brownfield, whose grocery also burned, were in Dickinson on Thursday to investigate the brick situation relative to rebuilding places of business. Mr. Sharman is planning on replacing the frame structures that burned with brick buildings.

J. L. McCutchan, who lost three buildings in the fire, also says that he intends to build a one story brick building on one of the lots.

MARKETING OF GRAIN DELAYED

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 30.—The marketing of the 1922 grain crop has been seriously delayed in Dickinson and Stark county during the past week on account of a shortage of grain cars, according to the reports of the various elevators operating in Dickinson. The elevators report that they have had only a limited number of cars during the past week and that they could have used a great many more had they been available.

When cars were available there was a congestion of grain hauled into this city. On Tuesday every elevator in the city was taxed to its limit taking care of the incoming grain, but since that time practically all of the elevators have been full and no cars were available so that there has not been much grain hauled since.

How Essex Views the Closed Car Question

Until Essex brought out the Coach, a closed car on a first rate chassis could not be had at a moderate price.

Buyers took it by the thousands. Nothing like it was ever experienced in closed car sales. And in consequence other makers added closed cars to their lines.

But their bid for a share of the trade is not based upon the principle which gives the Essex its distinction.

Mark how different it is

Elaborate fittings intended to lend an air of luxury are not featured in the Essex. It is sold strictly on its merits as a complete and superb motor car mechanically. It established itself as one of the leading four cylinder motor cars of the world in performance, endurance, reliability and economy.

One stock car under official observation travelled 3,037 miles in fifty hours. Four stock cars each lowered all previous time records between San Francisco and New York.

It is upon such a chassis that the Coach is mounted. The same idea of utility guided its creation. It has staunchness and character. It gives the utility of the costliest cars. It stays tight and secure.

Yet such a delightful closed body does not place the Essex Coach price beyond the reach of those who can afford a good open car.
